Really we don't pay attention to what has been said. We ignore the words of writers, artists, the great and the good. More importantly we ignore the wisdom of others that have lived before us.

There are lots of things that are new in life but the basic elements of life are always with us.

Love, sex, marriage, work, relationships, homes, money. These existed when Jesus was born and well before. Those things have always been constants.

But life is also full of change and moving on.

This book of quotes is all about how our lives change whether it's through love, marriage, divorce, or simply moving home.

There are quotes about changing and improving our lives: "It is only through labor and painful effort, by grim energy and resolute courage that we move on to better things." Theodore Roosevelt.

About moving on after times of despair: "Recovery begins from the darkest moment." John Major (British Prime Minister.)

About love from Romain Holland. "One makes mistakes; that is life. But it is never a mistake to have loved."

There's humor and breaking up from Rita Rudner and Matt le Blanc:

"I love to shop after a bad relationship. I don't know. I buy a new outfit and it makes me feel better. It just does. Sometimes I see a really great outfit, I'll break up with someone on purpose."

And: "Why do you have to break up with her? Be a man. Just stop calling."

The serious side of life is covered but there's hope and inspiration here too. We cover moving on from depression and sadness to a better future.

"Cry. Forgive. Learn. Move on. Let your tears water the seeds of your future happiness." Steve Maraboli.

And: "If you're feeling low, don't despair. The sun has a sinking spell every night, but it comes back up every morning," from the singer Dolly Parton.

There's even positivity from Steve Jobs about death: "Death is the destination we all share, no one has ever escaped it. And that is as it should be because death is very likely the single best invention of life."

Life is full of beginnings and endings and this wonderful collection of quotations reflects that. Whatever the situation it's here. If you want to know the wisdom of the ages get this book. There's quotes from the past, from William Shakespeare, from Alfred Lord Tennyson through to wisdom from today's writers, artists, philosophers through to politicians and celebrities!!
